

Independence. Ingenuity. Innovation. Integrity.

Commerce Guys is the driving force behind Drupal Commerce, and we're on a mission to deliver better ways of doing eCommerce through open-source solutions. Along with innovative technology, we offer our customers world-class consulting, training, expert development, and support.

We're always interested in recruiting top-notch talent for our offices in Southeast Michigan and Paris, France. We value enthusiasm, team spirit, and a constant desire to expand personal knowledge and contribute to the Drupal community. We provide a multi-cultural, casual and balanced work environment.

"I value the ability to work on complex projects that make me think bigger than I have before."

Mike Gensel, Commerce Guy

Here's why you might be interested in working with us:

- We are the leaders in Drupal eCommerce.
 - Our work culture thrives on the same spirit of collaboration and innovation that drives the open-source community.
 - You'll learn and grow with the foremost Drupal experts.
 - You could find yourself at some of the most exciting events around the world.
 - You'll be a part of industry-leading eCommerce solutions.
 - You'll get all the free coffee you can drink.
-

Do you have something special to offer but don't see an opening in your area of expertise? Apply anyway—we'd love to hear from you.

We're also open to remote work arrangements.